

INFLOWS

Guiding principles

- focus on education
- compliance with the health standards in force at the time of the event

Inflow categories

- Category 1 students, researchers, professors for a long period (minimum one month)
- Category 2 individuals for a short period of time (student, researcher, teacher, patient, worker, delivery man)
- Category 3 Groups of students, researchers, professors for a brief period (1-4 days), typically for a colloquium, seminar, conference, workshop, etc.
- Category 4 externals to attend an event organized by third parties on one of ULiège's campuses

Through the application of the guiding principles, it follows:

Categories 1 and 2 are non-problematic:

- category 1: General testing system provided to the ULiège community
- category 2: taken in charge by an ULiège staff member, who ensures the respect of the regulations and tracing

Categories 3 and 4 are neither a priority nor encouraged. However

- those wishing to hold a category 3 event should be aware that:
 - the event should not conflict with teaching activities (staggered scheduling)
 - there will be limited space available
 - there will be constraints related to logistics (costs, deadlines)
 - health standards can change quickly
 - no coverage by the University of the additional costs linked to the pandemic
- Those wishing to organize a category 4 event should be aware that
 - category 3 constraints apply
 - priority is given to categories 1, 2 and 3

OUTFLOWS

Guiding principles

Risk assessment by the departing person, or by his academic supervisor, and therefore inquire about:

- health risks
- the legislation of the host country (quarantine, etc.)
- the means of transport available
- the recommendations of the SPF Foreign Affairs

Furthermore,

- no coverage by the University of the additional costs linked to the pandemic
- the centralisation of information (tracing), via existing tools (Modus, etc.), is essential for any reimbursement
- the departure authorization is subject to validation by the Authority

Outflow categories

- Category 1 students, researchers, professors for a long period (minimum one month): Erasmus, internships, sabbatical year, post-doc, etc.
- Category 2 ad hoc missions (symposiums, fieldwork, field surveys, educational trips, visits, etc.) potentially concerning all categories of the community of the University of Liège.

For category 1, attention is drawn to the following points:

- potential difficulties of returning, given the unpredictable nature of the long-term evolution of the pandemic
- the interest of going to an institution that would offer only a (very) small number of face-to-face activities

For both categories, possibility of testing on return to ULiège.
